

Feray-2

Recovery is part of the magic of creation for the artist Marie-Denise Douyon who rehabilitates waste as an object of art. Through reclamation, she creates unique works from various found objects to address issues related to global warming and ecological disasters. Starting in 2006, Marie-Denise Douyon created a series of works entitled "Feray", a Creole word meaning scrap metal. By this title, the artist evokes the materials that make up works made with recycled bicycle parts.

Mixed media, ink and oils, bicycle chains, linoleum, photography on wood, 2018
152 cm x 76 cm

1 900 $

Prices are in Canadian dollars